Original Kermit gets permanent home at Smithsonian museum

CNN

WASHINGTON Forget red versus blue. The nation's capital is seeing green.

Fifty-five years after debuting on a Washington TV station, the original Kermit the Frog puppet was donated Wednesday to the Smithsonian's National Museum of American History.

America's favorite amphibian was one of 10 puppets from the 1950s show "Sam and Friends" given to the museum by the family of Muppets creator Jim Henson.

Included in the cast of characters joining Kermit at his new home are Pierre the French Rat, a voracious purple skull named Yorick, and a yellow monster called Mushmellon—possibly an early ancestor of Oscar the Grouch.

The Museum of American History also has, among other things, a 1969 version of Kermit the Frog, Howdy Doody and Edgar Bergen's ventriloquist dummy, Charlie McCarthy.

"With these puppets we provide insights into American identity, and we also explore entertainment and popular culture throughout our history," said Brent Glass, the museum's director.

"Jim Henson embodied the innovation and ingenuity that are inherent in American culture. Beyond the entertainment value, Henson's creations helped educate and helped inform his audiences, and they continue to influence us today."

"Sam and Friends" ran on Washington's NBC affiliate, WRC-TV, from 1955 to 1961. While many of its characters soon faded from public memory, Kermit went on to a starring role in shows such as "Sesame Street," launched in 1969, and "The Muppet Show," which ran from 1976 to 1980.

When is a store not really a store?

When I think of Oprah, I think of quality. She has high standards — be it her talk show, her magazine or her movies.

You get the sense that with all her businesses, she's personally involved, a control freak, a perfectionist, demanding, a screamer, a micro-manager, someone who has to check every last detail like Santa does with his elves before he'll dare put a toy in his precious sack.

But somehow she was asleep at the wheel when she opened her second Oprah Store, this one at Water Tower Place.

First of all, it's not really a store. It has no walls — a store has to have walls, doesn't it? The so-called store is just out there in the open, in an area by the elevators. OK, so because it's not a real store, let's call it what it is: Oprah's Area by the Elevators.

This Oprah Store is more like something you'd see in an airport than in a mall. Too bad it's not duty-free.

And most of the merchandise in the "store" is locked in glass cases, making it impossible to shoplift even the tiniest item — a heads-up for those of you who have come to rely on this column for the occasional shoplifting tip (kidding!).

And let me tell you, you really wouldn't want to shoplift any of this stuff. We're talking baseball hats, key chains, water bottles, T-shirts, mugs and tote bags with Oprah's name on them. I expect stuff with the Oprah name to be high quality. I think of Oprah's audience as somewhat sophisticated, the kind of people who might listen to NPR or read this column. But judging from the stuff at the Oprah Store, she feels her audience is women who still think fanny packs are cool.

I don't mind people getting rich, but put some thought into it, some effort. Don't try to sell us the kind of tchotchkes your bank gives you when you open a checking account.

Oprah's brand is about enriching people's lives. You can buy coffee mugs and tote bags with inspiring quotes that Oprah supposedly said. Things like "Live your own dreams," "Love what you've got" and "What you do today creates every tomorrow."

If she's like me, I once overheard someone else say these quotes and then I repeat them enough times that I start to believe I made them up myself.

OK, maybe I have not said anything quite as profound as Oprah has, but I'm sure I've come pretty damn close. I've said things like "I don't like change, even if it's for the better," "I don't like Christmas, because I don't like to give" and "Sarcasm is truth in a cream sauce."

The only difference I can see between Oprah and me is I can't put my sayings on a mug and sell them in a store with no walls.

THE LEGAL LIMITS

Chicago's maze of drinking ordinances and regulations might leave you wondering if you're breaking the law

By Kyra Kyles | REDEYE

All the world's a stage, according to Shakespeare.

Is all of Chicago a bar?

It's a fair question, in light of a flurry of liquor license expansions approved by City Hall.

Last month, the City Council approved an ordinance allowing 17 liquor cart vendors to serve patrons around the clock at airports. Approximately 12 such licenses will be sold at O'Hare and five at Midway, the Tribune reported.

Even the beachfront is getting boozier. In the spring, aldermen approved a measure to more than double the number of liquor licenses available for qualifying vendors who will be based on Chicago Park District property, including the golf course at the South Shore Cultural Center and Diversey Grill in Lincoln Park.

But the easing of those restrictions doesn't mean Chicagoans can crack open a keg or sip Champagne any old place they want. RedEye talked with city officials from public transit to special events to the park district find out where and when you can drink alcoholic beverages in the city.

METRA

If you want to drink and ride, skip the CTA and get onboard at Metra. Riders can purchase alcohol at all downtown stations, bring it onto the platforms and drink on the train, Metra spokesman Michael Gillis said. "You have to be moderate and you can't be publicly intoxicated," Gillis said. "If a customer is obviously inebriated, the conductor might not let you on or if you get on, you can get kicked off." There are some times that alcohol is prohibited, according to Gillis, who said they coincide with times of high ridership, such as the Taste of Chicago, Blues Fest, Gospel Fest and the Air and Water Show. For a complete list, check out the "FAQ" section of Metra's website at metrarail.com.

CHRIS SWEDA/TRIBUNE

WRIGLEY FIELD

Wrigley visitors can purchase drinks up until the end of the eighth inning for day games and the end of the seventh inning for night games, or 9:20 p.m.—whichever comes first, said Mike Iacobelli, director of operations for Levy Restaurants at Wrigley Field. Suite-holders and guests in the PNC Club or Stadium Club areas can stay and consume alcohol for an hour after the game ends or at the manager's discretion, Iacobelli said. But even if you're a VIP, no tailgating is allowed at the home of the Cubs.

TRIBUNE FILE

UNITED CENTER

At the home of the Blackhawks and Bulls, liquor sales cutoff times vary depending on which team is playing. For Hawks games, sales stop with approximately 10 minutes remaining in the third period, a representative for the stadium said. During Bulls games, the spigot stops around the end of the third quarter. United Center visitors can drink anywhere inside the premises until either type of game—or a concert—ends, with an exception for private suite owners—who can continue to serve their guests alcohol for up to an hour after an event ends. But there is no party in the parking lot.

TRIBUNE FILE

JOHN KONSTANTARAS / TRIBUNE

PARK DISTRICT PROPERTY

More city beaches and parks will allow visitors to imbibe because of 14 new liquor licenses approved by the City Council this spring. But that doesn't mean you can pop bottles at any park. You have to be at one of the city-sanctioned businesses with a license or attending a special event where organizers hold appropriate permits to sell or serve liquor. And you have to stay within the boundaries of the event or risk a ticket for public drinking, which can result in a fine. "Generally, alcohol is served within enclosed areas," Chicago Park district spokeswoman Marta Juaniza said of the designated service spots. "And if it isn't clear where the boundaries are, the organizer should provide guidance on where you can be with the beverages." This rule also is in effect if you are attending a festival on Chicago Park District property. The city's Office of Special Events, which organizes events such as the Air and Water Show and the Chicago Jazz Festival, must get permits to allow the selling or serving of alcohol at their events, Juaniza said.

TRIBUNE FILE

U.S. CELLULAR

Tailgaters are welcome in White Sox parking lots up to three hours before a game and one hour after the game is over, team spokesman Ray Garcia said. Inside the stadium, patrons can purchase liquor until the top of the seventh inning and keep drinking whatever they've purchased until the game ends, Garcia said.

TRIBUNE FILE

CTA

Yeah, we empathize. A stiff Scotch might make it easier to deal with that weirdo taking up a seat with his bag or that annoying teen talking (or screaming) on a cell phone. But liquor—along with all other beverages and food—is prohibited on buses and trains, said CTA spokeswoman Catherine Hosinski, who cited an ordinance in place since 1995. "In addition, the city's municipal code has rules regarding transporting alcohol in vehicles and consuming alcohol on the public way that would also apply." The fine for flouting the CTA's no-liquor law could be a $500 and restitution if there is any damage to transit agency property, Hosinski said.

SOLDIER FIELD

Tailgating isn't just a pastime, it's an American right. But your inalienable right to bear beer has restrictions, according to local laws. Drinking is allowed anywhere in the stadium, though alcohol sales stop at the end of the third quarter, according to Bears spokesman Scott Hagel, who said last call can be earlier during night games. Patrons cannot take the beverages outside as open alcohol is prohibited on the outside grounds, with the exception of the tailgating areas, which are managed by the Chicago Park District. Approximately four hours before game or event time, tailgaters can tie one (or two or three) on, but only in designated lots: the Waldron Parking Deck, South Parking deck and Adler Planetarium parking. "You cannot exit those lots with an alcoholic beverage," said Luca Serra, the director of sponsorship and media for Soldier Field. "Chicago police and stadium security are on hand to write citations. These rules are strictly enforced." Tailgate time also applies to what Serra termed "major, special" events—including international soccer games, concerts and college football.

CHRIS SWEDA/TRIBUNE

KNOW YOUR CODE

So, what exactly happens if you're caught drinking in areas designated "public ways?" RedEye ripped this right out of the city's municipal code to keep you informed. Consider these your official booze clues when it comes to imbibing in the open:

"8-4-030 DRINKING IN PUBLIC WAYS.

(a) It shall be unlawful for any person to drink any alcoholic liquor as defined by law on any public way or in or about any motor vehicle upon a public way in the city. This section shall not apply to portions of the public way occupied by a sidewalk café permitted pursuant to Chapter 10-28 of the municipal code which is properly licensed to sell alcoholic liquor, or to any portion of the public way located on Navy Pier; or to any venue holding a valid Riverwalk Venue liquor license under Section 4-60-074.

(b) It shall be unlawful for any person to transport, carry, possess or have any alcoholic liquor in or upon or about any motor vehicle upon any public way in the city except:

(1) in the original package and with the seal unbroken, or

(2) in a package properly sealed, bagged and receipted pursuant to Section 6-33 of the Liquor Control Act of 1934, added by P.A. 94-1047, effective January 1, 2007, and codified at 235 ILCS 5/6-33, as amended.

(c) Any person violating any provision of this section shall be fined not less than $100.00 nor more than $500.00 or shall be punished by imprisonment for a period of six months or by both such fine and imprisonment."

Teen accused of throwing drain cleaner on 2 children

Chicago Tribune

Something about the way the boy grabbed at her 11-year-old daughter, Nala, drove Gwendolyn Davis to firmly tell him she didn't want him playing with the girl.

Cook County prosecutors alleged Wednesday that the 13-year-old boy purposefully poured drain cleaner containing sulfuric acid onto the girl and a 10-year-old playmate.

Though the boy's family claims the incident in West Garfield Park was a tragic accident, the result is that Nala Armstrong and Adrian Bennett suffered chemical burns on their heads and upper torsos, officials said.

"I'm guessing it was a jealousy thing," Davis said Wednesday, standing beside Adrian's mother, Loretta Corbett, outside the University of Chicago Medical Center's burn unit. Both children are being treated there, with Nala suffering burns on her forehead, eyelids, cheek and arm. Adrian suffered burns to the back of his head and right arm, hospital officials said.

Surgery is likely for Nala, said Dr. Lawrence Gottlieb, director of the burn unit, calling the injuries "bad."

The 13-year-old, whom the Tribune is not naming because he is a minor, was ordered held by a Juvenile Court judge on a delinquency petition with a charge of heinous battery.

Standing before Juvenile Court Judge Colleen Sheehan, the boy hung his head and folded his hands behind his back as prosecutors detailed the sequence of events on the 900 block of West Garfield Boulevard that led to his arrest.

Both victims were on the second floor of a rear porch in the apartment building when they looked up and saw the 13-year-old walk out onto the third-floor porch above them, pick up a white container and pour it on them, said Assistant State's Attorney Matt Howroyd.

They "immediately felt a burning sensation," Howroyd said. Prosecutors said the container had "poison" written on it and was later identified as Black Swan Zap drain cleaner.

The boy's mother, whom the Tribune is also not naming because it could identify her son, tearfully declared that her son is innocent.

"He's a good kid at home," she said to the judge inside the courtroom. "I know it was an accident. He didn't know it was a poison substance."

Blago jury questionnaires destroyed

Detailed questionnaires filled out by jurors in the trial of former Gov. Rod Blagojevich were destroyed, a clerk for U.S. District Judge James Zagel said Wednesday. The surprise disclosure came as the Tribune was delivering a letter to Zagel from its lawyer asking that the questionnaires be made public.

New 'Transformers' filming end date: Sept. 1

J'mme Love was one of 1,200 Chicagoans who had some role in the organized mayhem that "Transformers 3" brought to Chicago streets during filming this summer.

But Love, a 19-year-old from West Garfield Park who worked as a camera intern on the set of the movie, may have been the most enthusiastic.

The movie's producer, Lorenzo Di Bonaventura, said the last day of shooting now is expected to be Sept. 1—although that could still change.

"It's funny, we keep extending it here because we're having such a good time, to tell you the truth," Di Bonaventura said. "We were supposed to leave a few days ago, actually, and we kept extending it. Right now, around Sept. 1, but if we have any say in it, we'll keep staying here."

Homicide tracker

By Tracy Swartz | REDEYE

South Chicago, West Englewood and West Garfield Park each saw two homicides in the past week, a RedEye analysis of preliminary police data found.

In South Chicago, a 33-year-old man was shot to death Tuesday in the 8000 block of South Jeffery Boulevard, five days after a 27-year-old man was fatally shot last week in the 9100 block of South Burley Avenue, police said.

In West Englewood, a 27-year-old man was shot to death Tuesday in the 1400 block of West 58th Street, five days after an 18-year-old man was fatally shot in the 1600 block of West 62nd Street, police said.

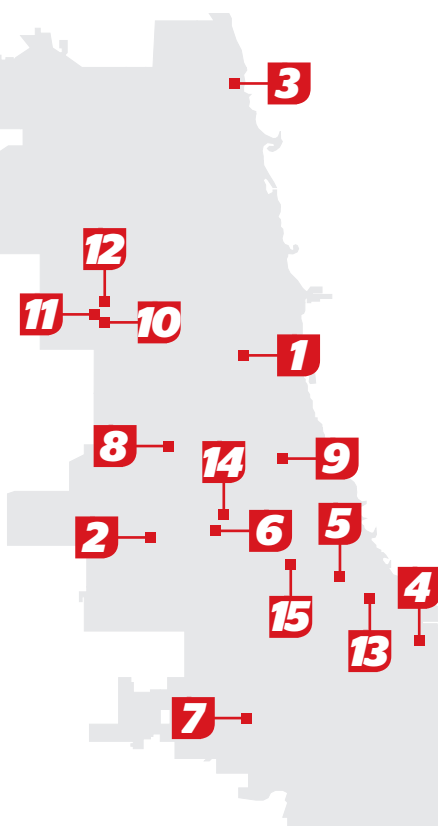

In West Garfield Park, a 45-year-old man was shot to death Monday in the 4400 block of West Madison Street, a day after a 30-year-old man was fatally shot in the 300 block of South Kostner Avenue, police said.

Citywide, fatal shootings also were recorded in the last week in Austin, Brighton Park, Chicago Lawn, Edgewater, Grand Boulevard, Morgan Park, the Near West Side and South Shore, RedEye determined. Meanwhile, a 44-year-old woman was found stabbed to death Wednesday in Greater Grand Crossing, officials said.

Also last week, Chicago's 2010 homicide toll passed 300 victims. There have been 307 homicide victims so far this year, as of Wednesday afternoon, RedEye found.

This month, 48 homicides have been recorded so far, RedEye determined. Police recorded 51 homicides in August 2009, RedEye found. TSWARTZ@TRIBUNE.COM

Mexican authorities find 72 bodies near border

4 Seventy-two bodies discovered at a ranch in northeast Mexico belonged to migrants who were making their way toward the U.S., Mexican officials said Wednesday.

The preliminary investigation indicates the victims were illegal immigrants from Honduras, El Salvador, Brazil and Ecuador, said Alejandro Poire, spokesman for national security strategy.

The motive for the killings was under investigation, though officials pointed out that Mexico's drug cartels have expanded their activities to include extortion and kidnapping of immigrants.

"Mexican institutions have hit the operational structures of these criminals and their income, and because of that, they turn to extortion and kidnapping of migrants, as well as recruiting them to force them to become part of their group of hit men," Poire said.

The bodies of the 58 men and 14 women were found above ground in a structure on the ranch, which is about 14 miles from the town of San Fernando, near the border with Texas. The Mexican navy, which was called in to investigate the case, said it is one of the largest discoveries of bodies in Mexico's four-year-old war on organized crime.

THE DISCOVERY

Members of the Mexican navy were tipped off to the grisly site Wednesday after a man with a gunshot wound approached a military roadblock. The man said he had been injured by a criminal gang, according to a statement released by the navy.

Man charged in cab stabbing

5 A taxi driver was in stable condition Wednesday after allegedly being stabbed by a passenger who apparently asked if he was Muslim before attacking him, a taxi driver union official said. Police said the suspect, a 21-year-old white male, has been charged with four counts, including attempted murder and hate crimes charges.

String of attacks kills dozens

7 Bombers and gunmen killed at least 56 Iraqis in more than two dozen attacks across the country Wednesday, mostly targeting security forces. The attacks made August the deadliest month for Iraqi policemen and soldiers in two years and came a day after the U.S. said the number of troops had fallen to fewer than 50,000, the lowest level since the war began.

WikiLeaks posts new report

The whistle-blower website WikiLeaks on Wednesday posted what it said was an internal CIA report into the perception that the United States exports terrorism, but one U.S. official said it does not divulge spectacular developments. The three-page document, dated Feb. 2, 2010, asks, "What If Foreigners See the United States as an 'Exporter of Terrorism?'"

THE DIGIT 17 million

That's how many motorists might have driven while drunk in the past 12 months, according to a report U.S. regulators released as part of a crackdown tied to travel during Labor Day weekend. The survey found 8 percent of the population reported riding with a driver they thought was drunk at least once in the past year.

SCOTTIE PIPPEN TO GET STATUE TREATMENT OUTSIDE UNITED CENTER

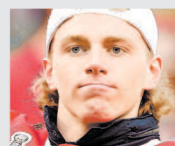

RedEye

Scottie Pippen is joining Michael Jordan outside the United Center—his statue, that is. The Bulls will unveil a statue of Pippen, Jordan's sidekick on the six-time champion Bulls of the 1990s and a recent Hall of Fame inductee, near the end of this upcoming season.

"Words really can't express my feelings," Pippen said in a statement. "It's an unbelievable honor and truly amazing. ... You see statues of individuals who have done great things and made their mark on history, but as a basketball player, you never really think about arriving at this point. It's an amazing honor for the Chicago Bulls to do this for me." Now that Jordan and Pippen have their statues, who in Chicago might be getting their statues 20 years from now? Here are a few ideas—and a special feature their statue might include.

PATRICK KANE

The Blackhawks player who scored the winning goal in the 2010 Stanley Cup final surely will have a career worth remembering.

STATUE'S SPECIAL FEATURE: A bronzed keg—in the back of a limo.

JONATHAN TOEWS

Captain Serious was the MVP during the Blackhawks' run to the Stanley Cup this season along with being an Olympic gold medalist. We expect more of the same for quite some time.

STATUE'S SPECIAL FEATURE: An expressionless face.

STARLIN CASTRO

The Cubs rookie seems destined for greatness. He's already shown flashes of brilliance at the plate, but he'll have to improve his fielding.

STATUE'S SPECIAL FEATURE: No World Series ring on his finger.

GORDON BECKHAM

The White Sox second baseman was a rookie of the year candidate last season and is rebounding nicely from a slow start this season. He has the goods to be one of the greatest on the South Side.

STATUE'S SPECIAL FEATURE: Bleeding ears from listening to Ozzie.

DERRICK ROSE

He's already established himself as one of the best point guards in the NBA, and this season could be a breakout campaign for him now that Carlos Boozer is in town.

STATUE'S SPECIAL FEATURE: An incomplete SAT at his feet.

BRIAN URLACHER

The linebacker is one of the best the Bears have ever seen, but it might take a Super Bowl title to get his statue outside Soldier Field.

STATUE'S SPECIAL FEATURE: An extended middle finger.

Every man's fantasy '10'

We men have a tough time finding a sanctuary impenetrable by the women in our lives. The ones we do have are usually sports-related like golf, softball or today's subject, fantasy football. While I'm usually all for protecting these fortresses of solitude, you should reconsider letting your lady join your fantasy football league. Here are the top 10 reasons why.

10 Fringe benefits

Playing against her can create healthy competition that can lead to tension, which can lead to, well, use your imagination.

9 Peaceful viewing

While other women try to have heart-to-heart talks during the game, she'll be next to you, chugging a beer and cursing the TV.

8 Upgrade

Now you won't be the only one wanting to splurge on a brand-new, big-screen TV.

7 Job security

All it takes is one waiver-wire suggestion to show the boss she's a legit fantasy footballer and, more importantly, due for a raise.

6 Accomplish

Take pride in your protege as she leaves your players alone and infuriates every man in the room by snatching up the ones they want.

5 Tasty treats

There's no way she'll want greasy pizza and store-bought salsa at the draft. Prepare your taste buds for glory.

4 Improved odds

With two teams in the mix, you'll have a great chance of walking away with some loot.

3 No interruptions

She'll forget about holding the laptop hostage scouring the Web for celeb gossip so you can't check your scores.

2 Quality time

Watching football with her will put an end to her whining about a lack of quality time together.

1 No complaining

You'll be able to watch football uninterrupted without her uttering a single word. Dreams do come true, my friends.

1 Who's the first athlete you think of when you hear the words "fined for tweeting"?

Mordecai "Three Fingers" Brown.

Larry Bird. Bad joke. Getting warmed up.

Ochocinco—not for his in-game tweets, but for that twitpic of him in an "anatomically correct" towel.

@ochocinco, No. 85.

Duh, Chad Ochocinco.

2 Imagine the first conversation between Manny Ramirez and Ozzie Guillen.

Ozzie: "$%#^ you." Manny: "Do I know you? Go wax my car."

"*&# you!" "No. %$&# you!" "Welcome to the team!" "Thank you!"

For some reason, I can't get past a visual of Animal from "The Muppets" talking to himself in the mirror.

I can't imagine; I don't know any Spanish swear words.

For once Ozzie might need an interpreter to understand Ramirez instead of the other way around.

3 Why would the Cubs want Adam Dunn?

He'd be great trade bait for prospects next July.

Because soon they won't have enough players to field a team at all. They'd take Warrick Dunn.

The 31-year-old slugger will help bring the teams' average age up to 17 or 18.

He can actually hit the baseball.

Why wouldn't they?

4 What about the college football season are you most looking forward to?

The battle between the BCS and the Heisman Trophy to see which is more useless.

The football games played the day after college football games.

Mackin' on freshmen at the tailgate.

The cheerleaders! Go BYU Cougars!

A reason to party.

5 What's the proper way to greet an IndyCar driver in town to race at Chicagoland Speedway?

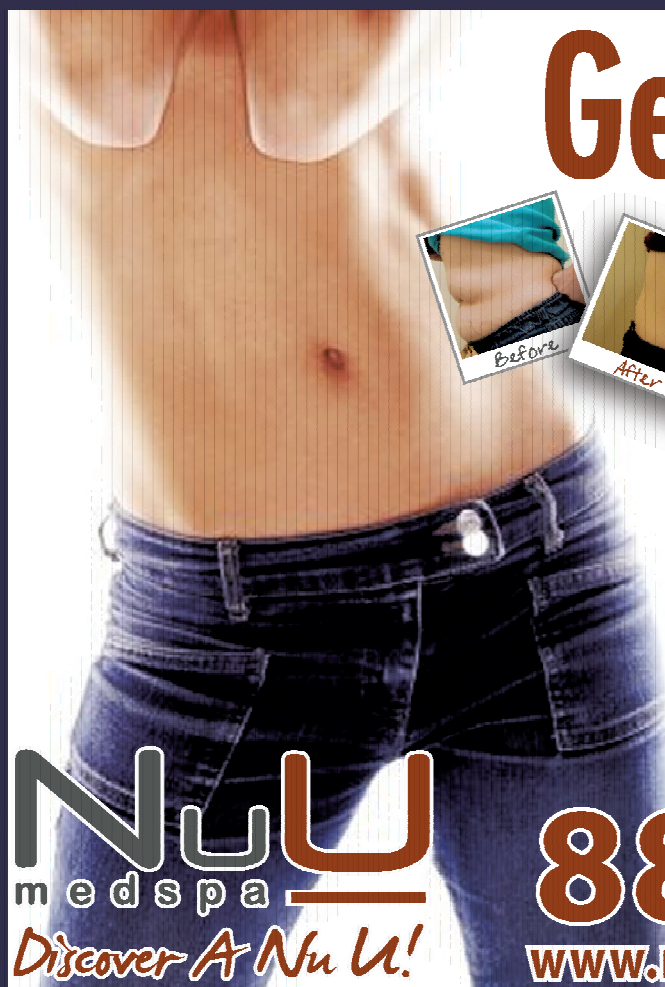

"On a scale of chess player to golfer, what level of athlete are you?"

A request that they party somewhere other than Underground. Celebrities are so predictable.

Hand him a Miller High Life and point to the closest country bar. Stereotypes are fun!!

"Hi, nice to see you. Where's Danica?"

Blackhawks in for plenty of national TV exposure

The Blackhawks will get a ton of face time on national TV this season as they defend their Stanley Cup championship.

The Hawks will appear nationally on Versus 11 times in 2010-11, tied for the most in the NHL, and could appear five more times during NBC's flex scheduling.

Versus will televise 78 regular-season NHL games this season—13 more than last season—and the Hawks will help kick off the schedule Oct. 7 when the network airs a tripleheader of season openers, culminating with their game against Colorado in Denver.

Included in the 11 matchups are two against the Hawks' archrivals, the Detroit Red Wings, on March 28 and April 8, and an Original Six tilt against the Bruins in Boston on March 29.

NBC will utilize a flex schedule for its "Game of the Week" beginning Jan. 23 and the Hawks could be chosen for contests against Philadelphia on Jan. 23, Pittsburgh on Feb. 20, Washington on March 13, Tampa Bay on April 3 and Detroit on April 10.

Tiger Woods admits divorce took a toll on his golf game

Sadness? Absolutely. And emotional fatigue and a certain amount of regret.

"You don't ever go into a marriage looking to get divorced," Tiger Woods said Wednesday, facing reporters for the first time since his marriage ended in a Panama City, Fla., courtroom earlier this week.

THE BARCLAYS

2-5 p.m. Thursday,
Golf Channel

» Tiger tees off
at 6:10 a.m.

But does he still love Elin Nordegren? The iconic golfer wouldn't go there.

"I wish her the best in everything," Woods said.

"You know, it's a sad time in our lives. And we're looking forward to [rebuilding] our lives and how we can help our kids the best way we possibly can. And that's the most important thing."

Woods spoke after his pro-am round at The Barclays in Paramus, N.J., returning to his job hours after Nordegren broke her nine-month silence via a People magazine story. (See more on Page 38.)

Woods also acknowledged all the behind-the-scenes dealings leading up to Monday's court filing had taken a greater toll than he had let on.

"At times it was difficult [to focus]," he said. "Certainly you try and block it out as best you can."

Asked if there was a time when it was almost too difficult to play, Woods said: "Most of the summer was like that."

The Barclays is the first of four FedEx Cup playoff events that lead to crowning the PGA Tour's season-long champ. Usually a lock to play all four, Woods needs a decent week to advance to the next stop.

Woods has just two top-10 finishes in nine events, coming at the Masters and U.S. Open. He stands a stunning 112th on the FedEx Cup points list, needing to move into the top 100 to guarantee another week.

"As of right now, I'm only guaranteed one," he said. "I need to play well to move forward."

» Bulls guard Derrick Rose hit his first five shots, scored 13 points and was named player of the game in the U.S.' 87-59 rout of Greece on Wednesday in Athens.

» It's beginning to look more like Brian Urlacher will sit out Saturday's third preseason game with Arizona, as he was held out of practice Wednesday, the third consecutive day he's been out.

» Jim Furyk overslept Wednesday after his cell phone alarm lost power, causing him to be late for his pro-am tee time in The Barclays. That left PGA Tour officials no choice but to disqualify him.

FINAL SCORE

» Cubs 4, Washington 0 » Baltimore 4, White Sox 2. Sox now 3.5 games behind Minnesota in the AL Central.

Gin and juice

6 small-batch gins for gin lovers and skeptics alike

By Lisa Arnett

Small-batch gins have been the darlings of mixology-focused lounges such as Violet Hour, In Fine Spirits and Sable since their bartenders poured the first cocktails. But lately, boutique bottles are popping up on shelves of more bars and restaurants next to big guys such as Tanqueray and Bombay Sapphire.

Gin drinkers, you might just find your new favorite on this list. Gin haters, hold up. Unusual ingredients—from rose petals to raspberries—soften that Pine-Sol-like sting so many juniper-heavy gins are known for.

Death's Door

Made in: Madison, Wis.

Tasting notes: Juniper up front, followed by a spicy lemon flavor from coriander seeds and a soft fennel finish

Order it at: Kith & Kin (1119 W. Webster Ave. 773-472-7070). At this Lincoln Park restaurant, the Aviation Aperitif is made with Death's Door gin, Luxardo maraschino liqueur, creme de violette and lemon juice ($8). Province (161 N. Jefferson St. 312-669-9900) in the West Loop also makes its house gin martini ($11) with Death's Door.

Hendrick's

Made in:

Ayrshire, Scotland

Tasting notes: Cucumber and rose

Drink it at:

The Southern (1840 W. North Ave. 773-342-1840), where watermelon and basil are muddled with Hendrick's for the Watermelon Basil Cooler ($10). Old Town bar Benchmark (1510 N. Wells St. 312-649-9640) debuts a specialty cocktail menu next week featuring a Hendrick's gin and tonic garnished with a cucumber slice ($6).

Farmer's

Made in: Princeton, Minn.

Tasting notes: Juniper with hints of elderflower and lemongrass

Drink it at: New Michigan Avenue restaurant Henri (18 S. Michigan Ave. 312-578-0763), which features this organic gin in the Linchpin ($11, above) with Pineau des Charentes (a French fortified wine) and an orange twist.

North Shore Distillery No. 6 and No. 11

Made in: Lake Bluff, Ill.

Tasting notes: The distillery's No. 6 gin is complex and floral thanks to lavender notes, while the No. 11 is more juniper- and cardamom-forward.

Drink it at: Charlie's Ale House (5308 N. Clark St. 773-751-0140), where the off-menu Gin Blossom ($8) features No. 6 gin with cherry juice, muddled orange, bitters and an orange twist garnish.

THE TICKER

Get more need-to-know Nightlife news at chicagonow.com/bottleblond

» Kaplan's in Bridgeport has reopened as Maria's Packaged Goods & Community Bar (960 W. 31st St.) pouring craft beer drafts and fun cocktails like Filbert's cream soda and Earl Grey tea-infused vodka.

» Pops for Champagne (601 N. State St.) is making over its basement jazz lounge into Watershed, a drinking parlor serving Midwestern craft beer and small-batch booze. ETA: Sept. 16.

» The Living Room Lounge (1100 W. Cermak Rd.), a mellow club featuring jazz in Pilsen, is hosting sneak-peek nights on select weekends leading up to its October grand opening.

» Recently opened Vintage Lounge (1449 W. Taylor St.) in Little Italy celebrates with a grand opening party at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Small's

Made in: Sheridan, Ore.
Tasting notes: Spicy with a touch of cardamom, anise and raspberry Drink it at: the basement cocktail lounge at Fedora (712 N. Clark St. 312-624-9008). Order the Simone ($13), a concoction of muddled mint and lime that's strained and served in a martini glass. Also, Wicker Park restaurant Cumin (1414 N. Milwaukee Ave. 773-342-1414) pours a simple gin and tonic ($8) to complement its Indian and Nepalese dishes.

Ransom Old Tom

Made in: Sheridan, Ore., by the same makers as Small's
Tasting notes: Malty, like a cross between gin and whiskey.
 This revival of the Old Tom style of gin from the mid-1800s is aged for months in oak barrels.

Order it at: Cole's (2338 N. Milwaukee Ave. 773-276-5802), where owner Coleman Brice suggests it as an alternative to whiskey neat or whiskey and soda ($5).

NIGHTCRAWLERS

SEEN ON THE SCENE AT ... Illuminati, 2354 N. Clybourn Ave.

We joined the secret society of partygoers who came to check out the house, hip-hop and Latin beats at Illuminati, a new club in the former Vain space in Lincoln Park. BY CRAIG SEYMOUR

Nura Mehic
23, student/banker

How long did it take you to get dressed tonight?
About 20 minutes. Seriously.

What's the story behind the tights?
They're my best friend's tights. All the clothes I'm wearing are somebody else's.

What kind of people would you want in your secret society?
A whole lot of fine guys and sexy girls.

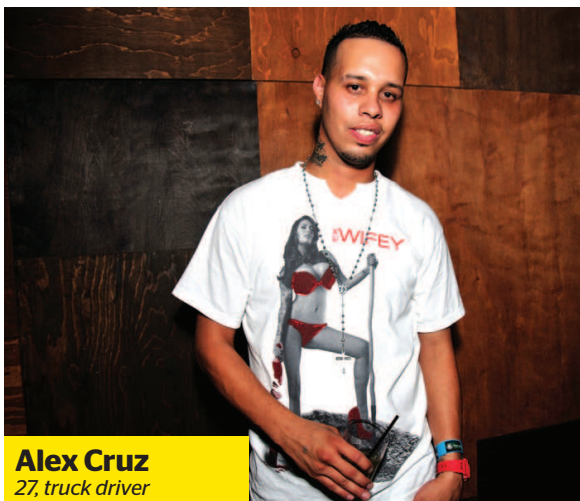

Arlene Hernandez
22, cashier at O'Hare

Why are you here tonight?
It's my best friend's 21st birthday party.

You said the last song was your favorite. What was it?
"Hasta Abajo" by Don Omar. I love him. That's my baby daddy.

Which celebrity would you want in your secret society?
Angelina Jolie. She's beautiful.

Alex Cruz
27, truck driver

Is it fun being a truck driver?
Yeah, you get to go out there and just be by yourself. There's nobody around you, nobody telling you what to do.

What do you drink to unwind after a long day at work?
Hennessy and Red Bull. It's got a chocolate flavor to it.

Which celebrity would you want in your secret society?
There are plenty of them. But I like Rihanna. She's a party girl. She's wild, and I'm wild, so I love wild girls.

Bucktown Arts Fest

When: 11 a.m.-7 p.m. Saturday-Sunday
Where: Senior Citizens Memorial Park, 2238 N. Oakley Ave.

Entry: Free!

Get there: No. 74 Fullerton bus, No. 49 Western bus; Western Blue Line "L" stop

The basics: You wouldn't be wrong to consider this arts- and crafts-minded fest your official warm-up to Renegade (Sept. 11-12). But this party in the park can hold its own. With 195 artists displaying everything from jewelry to clothing and furniture to paintings in charming, somewhat haphazard spaces along pretty footpaths (and some streets), the fest offers something for everyone, whether you're in a browsing or buying mood. And if art's just not your thing, hit up food, beer and sangria vendors and take in performances spanning live jazz, theater, dance and poetry all weekend, plus screenings of short classic films Saturday night. 312-409-8305.

Don't miss: More photos from last year's fest online at metromix.com

MORE FESTIVALS

FREE Summer-Dance

It's sad but true: The 11-week series draws to a close this weekend. Stock up on dance lessons and live music in styles such as tango (Thursday), oldies (Friday), salsa (Saturday) and swing (Sunday). 6 p.m. Thursday-Saturday; 4 p.m. Sunday. Grant Park, 601 S. Michigan Ave. 312-742-4007.

Randolph Street Market Festival

Shop till you drop along Randolph Street (Ada Street to Ogden Avenue) and inside the historic Plumber's Hall (1340 W. Washington Blvd.). Antiques, indie apparel, vintage collectibles and specialty items from more than 200 vendors vie for your attention, plus food and beer. 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Saturday; 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Sunday. $9-$12. 312-666-1200.

Lake View Music Fest

Party just outside the friendly confines with bands Modern Day Romeos and Too White Crew (Friday) and 7th Heaven and Infinity (Saturday), among others. The ninth annual event also includes vendors with food, beer, and arts and crafts. Noon-10 p.m. Saturday-Sunday. $5-$7 donation. Sheffield Avenue and Addison Street. 773-868-3010.

FREE Taste of Greece

Take a bite out of the neighborhood as Athena, Greek Islands, Pegasus and other Greektown spots sell traditional fare. Also features live music and dance performances. Noon-11 p.m. Saturday-Sunday. Halsted Street between Van Buren and Monroe streets. 847-509-8050.

FREE Yanga Fest

Browse fine art, experimental works, ethnic pieces and more relating to African-American themes, identity, history and culture at the annual juried art fair formerly known as the Arts and Crafts Festival. Includes performances, food vendors and more. Noon-9 p.m. Saturday-Sunday. DuSable Museum of African-American History, 740 E. 56th Pl. 773-947-0600.

Ferrari Festival

Feast your eyes on 60-plus vintage cars parked along Monroe Street from Clark to Dearborn streets. Inside, tackle an Italian buffet of food, beer and wine ($30 donation benefits the Children's Memorial Hospital). Italian Village Restaurants, 71 W. Monroe St. 312-332-7005.

||| Katy Perry

“Teenage Dream”

(Capitol Records)

Katy Perry has cultivated an image that wavers between cheesecake pin-up and virginal choir girl—a head-scratching divide that surfaces throughout the shaky follow-up to 2008’s massive “One of the Boys.” On the title track, Perry sings about a guy who thinks she’s “pretty without makeup,” but by “Last Friday Night” she’s waking up bruised (or is that a hickey?), reeking of alcohol and with a stranger in her bed.

At times, these conflicts can be jarring. On “The One That Got Away,” a midtempo breakup cut that’s one of the album’s better tunes, a maturing Perry coos about being June Carter to an ex’s Johnny Cash. “Peacock,” by contrast, comes across as a lame junior high joke (“Let me see your peacock”) reworked as an auto-tuned club banger. True, Perry still knows her way around a hook (“California Gurls” embeds itself in your skull like a burr in a wool sweater), but throwaway lines like “after the hurricane comes the rainbow” make “Teenage Dream” the musical equivalent of stale cotton candy.

Can Chiropractic Help Me? HOW MUCH WILL IT COST?

We are often asked, "What's the best way of finding out whether or not a doctor of chiropractic can help my problem?" We believe the answer can be found in a complete chiropractic consultation and examination, including x-rays. And to help find out for sure, we will do a complete consultation and examination, including x-rays, if necessary, (procedures that normally cost $250 or more) for only $25.

We will make this special program available through September. The only exception to the offer involves personal injury cases (workers' compensation and auto accidents) in which there is no charge directly to the patient.

$25.00 Reg. $250 Program Must present ad at time of appointment.

YOUR INITIAL VISIT WILL INCLUDE:

- A Private consultation with the doctor.
- X-rays, if necessary.
- A thorough spinal examination including orthopedic & neurological test.
- A confidential report of our findings.
- An explanation of our treatment procedure if we determine chiropractic can help you.
- A REFERRAL TO THE PROPER SPECIALIST IF WE DETERMINE CHIROPRACTIC CAN'T HELP YOU.

THESE CONDITIONS ARE SOME OF THE DANGER SIGNALS:

- Headache
- Arthritic pain by stiff neck
- Loss of sleep
- Scoliosis (Curvature of the spine)
- Leg pain & numbness
- Arm pain & numbness
- Backache
- Fatigue
- Tension
- Whiplash injury

If you are experiencing any of these symptoms, call our office today for an appointment.

Energy, emotion & tolerance

Mike Dobbins of the Chicago band Patience Gloria answered our Chi-Tunes questionnaire in the "about" section at chicagonow.com/chi-tunes. Do the same and your band could appear in RedEye and Metromix!

What makes your live show great?

Yes, there is a mountain of energy ... that is infectious at the live shows, but there is also an emotional connection. We strive to unleash the emotional potential of the song during live performances. It's a no-holds barred battle for your musical soul.

Describe your sound in five words or less.

Quirky thoughtful landscape of goodness

Tell us something random about the band, and why that's significant.

Charlie (the composer and vocalist) and Michael (the lyricist) slept together (innuendo not intended) on a fold out couch before ever knowing each other. I think it was a good sign of how tolerant and comfortable each of us was in our own skin. If you can sleep with someone who's a complete stranger, you sure as hell can work with them.

Whom would you want to work with, and with whom would you never work? Why?

It's safe to say we'd be down for working with The Flaming Lips, Nada Surf and Radiohead. We really enjoy the originality of their lyrics. I think we can rule out Susan Boyle in our future collaborations.

If the band were a '90s sitcom character, whom would it be and why?

I'd have to say Newman from "Seinfeld." We're here to cause trouble and deliver.

ELIN SPEAKS

TIGER WOODS' EX-WIFE OPENS UP ABOUT DIVORCE, CHEATING SCANDAL

From news services

Her divorce is final and she's talking, for now.

"I have been through the stages of disbelief and shock, to anger and ultimately grief over the loss of the family I so badly wanted for my children," Elin Nordegren tells People magazine in an interview out just days after her divorce from Tiger Woods was made official.

Nordegren also said she never had a clue her husband was fooling around and never hit him with a golf club during that bizarre night back in late November, The Associated Press reports.

"I've been through hell," Nordegren said. "It's hard to think you have this life, and then all of a sudden, was it a lie? You're struggling because it wasn't real. But I survived.

It was hard, but it didn't kill me."

She and the couple's two children have settled a mile from her ex-husband in a rented, five-bedroom house in a gated community in Windermere, Fla., and Woods needs her permission to get past the guard. The two are sharing custody of their children. The interview with People, conducted at her home over four visits, will be her only one, she said.

Many wondered if Nordegren had a hand in Woods' car accident at their Florida home, perhaps going after him in a fit of rage when she caught him.

"This was one of the things I had the hardest time with people thinking," she said. "There was never any violence inside or outside our home.

Bullock today

Another wronged woman speaks.

Sandra Bullock will sit down Tuesday with Matt Lauer on "Today." Bullock has been living in New Orleans with her adopted son, Louis, since her divorce and will appear on "Today" to promote her support of the city's Warren Easton Charter High School. But Lauer, of course, is sure to ask her how she has weathered finding out about her husband's infidelities and the media storm surrounding the breakup and divorce.

The speculation that I would have used a golf club to hit him is just truly ridiculous."

Nordegren also said she never suspected Woods of cheating. "I felt stupid as more things were revealed—how could I not have known anything?"

Nordegren said she and Woods tried to save their marriage, but ultimately she decided that a marriage "without trust and love" wasn't good for anyone.

She has not watched "one minute of golf." But she can laugh at things now, calling those "Saturday Night Live" and "South Park" parodies of her "pretty hysterical" (though totally untrue).

Woods' golf game has suffered amid his personal turmoil, but Nordegren said she still believes he'll wind up as the "best golfer that ever lived."

Miley's available, boys

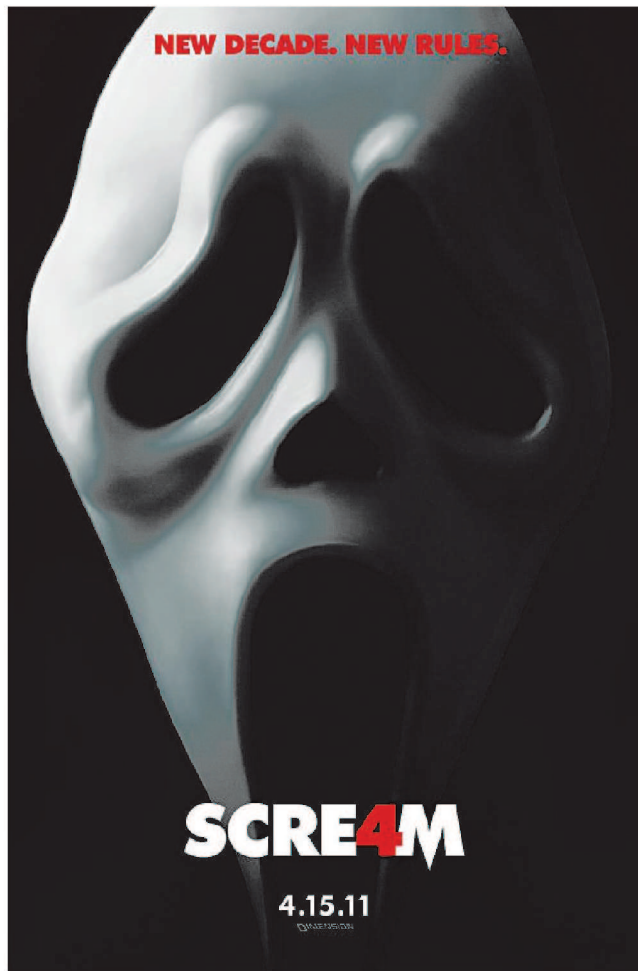

After more than a year of dating, Miley Cyrus and Liam Hemsworth are done, his rep confirms to people.com. The two had been fending off breakup rumors for months. In June, Ms. Raspy Voice denied they had split, telling fans on her website that they were "so happy."

DIGIT

$7 billion

That's the amount vampire-related entertainment has brought in since the release of the original "Twilight" movie in 2008, The Hollywood Reporter estimated.

A cast to die for

This is one star-studded flick. Ew.com reports that Anna Paquin (1) and Kristen Bell (2) have been added to "Scream 4," which is set for release in April. The two join Neve Campbell (3), Courteney Cox Arquette (4), David Arquette (5), Emma Roberts (6), Hayden Panettiere (7), Adam Brody (8), Rory Culkin (9) and Alison Brie (10). Good grief.

Lohan released

Lindsay Lohan is back on the streets. She left rehab Tuesday evening, but a Los Angeles Superior Court judge ruled Wednesday that the actress must receive psychotherapy, counseling for addiction and random drug and alcohol tests at least twice a week. The judge also tossed out two drug counts on her record.

America's wiggling out

Is Prince Poppycock (above) the "male Lady Gaga"? On "America's Got Talent" on Tuesday night, the bewigged, heavily made up and utterly over-the-top Poppycock stole the show. His opera bits have been entertaining, but his version of "Bohemian Rhapsody" took things to new heights. Judge Sharon Osbourne compared him to Gaga and Piers Morgan said he out-camped Freddie Mercury. America must agree because Poppycock was voted through to the finals on Wednesday's show.

Flanigan

'SNL' poaches another one

"Saturday Night Live" has plucked another writer from Chicago's comedy scene. Tom Flanigan, who stars in the Second City revue "The Absolute Best Friggin' Time of Your Life," is heading to the NBC show, the Tribune reported Wednesday. Shelly Gossman, also of Second City, was signed by "SNL" earlier this summer.
